

Someone who knows the city, start to finish.

A composed local stays with your group for the evening, the day or the whole weekend, so nobody has to think about how the night gets home.

01. WHAT A KÓDA IS

Tell us when. We arrange who.

A Kóda comes from Barcelona's home of house work: hotel desks, restaurant floors, guiding events. They know the rooms, the staff, and the way home.

Which street is quicker, which table is worth the wait, and who to call when dinner runs long.

Everyone gets home

From the first meeting point to the last door. Your Kóda stays until everyone is in.

02. WHO A KÓDA IS

Chosen for judgement, not for looks.

Most come from hospitality. People who notice the table running late before you do, and who know the city after midnight as well as by day.

04. ONE EVENING, UNFOLDED

The night, start to finish.

Five moments from one Saturday. This is what a Kóda does without ever having to say so.

05. HOW IT WORKS

Four steps, most of them ours.

- Tell us about the evening
Where, when, how many of you, and anything we should know.
- 48 hours' notice
Two days lets us choose the right person for your group. Sooner than that, message us first.
- We assign your Kóda
Chosen for your plans, your group and your language. Confirmation arrives by email.
- They stay until the end
From the first meeting point to everyone home.

07. A NOTE FROM THE FOUNDER

I started Kóda after too many evenings where one person in the group spent the whole night quietly counting heads: the route back, the last metro, the friend who wandered off. That person deserves the dinner too.
